

Community Corrections Partnership Advisory Board (CCPAB)

Developing Plans to Support Public Safety in Sacramento County

History of AB 109 and the CCPAB

Understanding the History of AB 109 and the CCPAB

Overcrowding in California Prisons and the Enactment of AB 109

Brown v. Platt, (2011) 563 US 493, California Supreme Court found confinement conditions in the California Department of Corrections (CDCR) unconstitutional due to over crowding.

- ▶ In response to this Supreme Court decision, the State of California passed Assembly Bill 109, The Public Safety Realignment Act.
- ▶ AB 109 diverted individuals convicted of certain crimes from CDCR to remain in county jail and under community supervision.

Enactment of AB 117 and the CCPAB

Along with AB 109, the legislature passed AB 117. AB 117 requires every County to create a Community Corrections Partnership (CCP). The CCP is required to develop an AB 109 plan update each year.

- ▶ In February 2021, the CCP developed the CCP Advisory Board (CCPAB) to develop recommendations to the CCP for annual updates to the AB 109 Plan based on community input and ongoing data collection, evaluation, and analysis.
- ▶ The CCPAB includes a representative from District Attorney, Public Defender, Probation, Superior Court, Sheriff, Sacramento Police Department, Social Services, and four community members.

Responsibility of the Sacramento County Community Corrections Advisory Board

The responsibility of the CCPAB is to:

- ▶ Understand the AB 109 population
- ▶ Listen to community and justice partners on the needs of the AB 109 population
- ▶ Evaluate data and research new evidence-based programs and services
- ▶ Recommend updates to the Sacramento County CCP for improvements to the AB 109 Plan that responds to the needs of Sacramento County AB 109 population

Goals of the CCPAB

The goals of the CCPAB includes developing recommendations for AB 109 plan updates that:

- ▶ Maintain and improve community safety
- ▶ Reduce recidivism
- ▶ Decrease the use of jail through expansion of community based treatment and support services

AB 109 Population

Understanding the AB 109 Population

Understanding the AB 109 population

The AB 109 population includes individuals who were convicted of a non-serious, non-violent, and non-sex felony offense. Instead of these individuals serving time in prison, they will serve time in our Sacramento County jail. Once released from jail, they will be supervised by the Sacramento Probation Department. Historically, the needs of this population include:

- ▶ Homelessness
- ▶ Substance Use
- ▶ Mental Health

2021 Demographic Data AB 109 Population
